About Us

Kerry Doman Founder & CEO

In September 2005, I moved back to Detroit after being away for five years first at college, and then living and working in Chicago. When I returned, I found that I pretty much had to start from scratch in terms of learning my way around town and meeting new friends. It was harder than it needed to be. I quickly saw the need and the exciting opportunity to connect young people to each other and to the community more easily and positively, whether they are moving into town for the first time, returning after college or work experience elsewhere, or have lived here forever. And that is how After 5 Detroit was born.

The mission of After 5 Detroit is to get young people really excited about living in this area -- we connect you to the best that metro Detroit has to offer. Our web-site is updated regularly to highlight an eclectic variety of events, destinations and fun information that will make living, working and playing in Detroit even more enjoyable.

After 5 continues to expand and evolve, in direct response to the feedback we receive from our loyal readers and local businesses. We recently launched the Connect After 5 Program, which provides unique after work experiences for Detroit area companies and their employees.

It's up to us to make Detroit the place we want it to be. So share your favorites and support the events, the places and the people you love. Meet new people. Try new things. Get involved!

Once again, welcome to After 5 Detroit.

Wendy Targus Editor-in-Chief

Wendy Targus recently joined After 5 from her years at Wayne State University, adding her expertise in Public Relations and her passion for the city of Detroit.

As Editor-in-Chief, Wendy always has her ear to the ground, looking for the top features, events, people and places throughout the Metro Detroit area. So don't be shy, keep her posted on all the happenings around town!

Try This

M&M Cafe

Home cooked meals full of flavor can be found at this Dearborn gem right across from City Hall. Be sure to try the Maurice Burger for a unique take on the classic. Dessert lovers need to go to lunch early since their pies and rice pudding sell out quickly.
